The Pavilion Telluria

Artists: Vladimir Sorokin, Genia Chef

Curator: Dimitri Ozerkov

The pavilion Telluria is a new pavilion on the multinational map of Venice. It shows the art of the mythical state of that same name, brought to life by the intellectual bestseller "Telluria" by the Russian writer Vladimir Sorokin. Sorokin himself appears at this show in the new role of a visual artist, while the other participant of the project, the painter Genia Chef, appears in the role of a story teller – the exhibit's narrator. For the first time in public Vladimir Sorokin shows fifteen of his new oil paintings, while Genia Chef exhibits a multi-layered narration – a calligraphic archive.
